INTRODUCTION

We start with Blind Shame and end with The Good One. 10 Comic Book Poems that follow a structure and style. When Series 1 – 8 were published it was obvious that they stand on their own. Series 9 however has such a distinct and precise structure it stands out from the other series and offers something new to the reader. Each Comic Book Poem has 6 panels. The 3 on the left hand side of the page are exclusively reserved for illustrations. The 3 on the right hand side are for the text. Here we see that text has been given the same space on the page as the illustrations, underlining their importance. The poetry itself takes on a haiku like structure and this is presented in all 10 of the Comic Book Poems in Series 9 – HaHaHaHa.
